Daily News Roundup FAQs

Why am I receiving the Daily News Roundup?

- The Daily News Roundup is a service provided by AICUP to interested parties at Pennsylvania's independent colleges and universities. It allows individuals and schools to view the stories and events happening in the independent college sector.

Why was an article about my school not included in today's roundup?

- Sometimes our wire services do not pick up stories or may run a few days late. If a published article does not appear in the daily roundup, please let us know.

How can I submit an article for consideration?

- Articles may be submitted via email to Carey Miller at miller@aicup.org.

What types of articles are accepted?

- We accept links to published articles that are timely and relevant. We do not accept blogs, press releases, photos or links to internally published articles at this time. Articles must focus on the school or an individual related to it (e.g., articles about an unrelated topic in which a professor, administrator or alumni is sourced will not be included).

An article about my school was published on a site with a paywall. What do I do?

- You may still submit the article for consideration. If it is included in the Daily News Roundup, the headline will contain a disclaimer noting that the article is behind a paywall.

Can I unsubscribe from this service?

- Yes, you may do so by clicking the "Unsubscribe" button found at the bottom of every email or by contacting Carey Miller.

Once again, we thank you for your participation and feedback. If you have any further questions, concerns or suggestions, please contact Carey Miller at miller@aicup.org or 717-232-8649 x 232.
